The anonymous, safe, and accessible helpline for athletes.

Sports create a culture where there's not only a great potential for abuse but then when it happens, there's almost no support for the survivor. ... Our helpline can be a very soft-landing for someone that just wants to talk through something uncomfortable.

The Courage First Athlete Helpline lets athletes and adults discuss their concerns anonymously. Daphne Young, Chief Communications Officer for Childhelp was recently featured in an interview with South Carolina Public Radio, where she highlighted the value of the Courage First Athlete Helpline in light of the recent sex abuse lawsuits in cheerleading gyms in California.
